received at the capital today, a further point was administered to the rebels at San Lorenzo, yesterday. After this statement the following of Zapata took refuge in the rough country at the base of Mount Alisco, twenty miles south of Mexico City.

The panicky condition growing out of the refusal of state bank bills was exaggerated today by the flooding of the city with this currency by refugees, chiefly Spaniards from the northern states, each of whom brought an accumulation.

The refugees naturally applied to the central bank, which was quickly confronted with the prospect of being drained of reasonable paper and left with notes possibly good but not easily convertible. This was due to the fact that the banks of issue were unable to ship silver for the redemption of the paper on account of the refusal of an express company to carry the money through districts where rebels are numerous.

ANOTHER REBEL ATTACK AT TAMPICO NOT EXPECTED
Vera Cruz, Dec. 17.—The Krompachian Cecilia arrived here today with 120 passengers. Only a few of them were refugees from Tampico. The Maria Castle also arrived bringing eight passengers. All of them reported normal conditions at Tampico where there is no present expectation of another rebel attack.

BRYAN WOULD PUT $150,000 INTO MEXICO CITY PROPERTY

Secretary Believes It Is Safe to Buy Embassy Site in Capital of Turbulent Republic.

WANTS POOR DIPLOMAT TO HAVE A CHANCE

(By Licensed Wire to Evening Herald.)
Washington, Dec. 17.—Secretary Bryan asked the foreign affairs committee today to include in the pending diplomatic and consular appropriation bill $150,000 each for embassy buildings in Mexico and Tokyo, and $140,000 for Berlin.

He was asked if he did not think it would be advisable under the present Mexican situation to pass over the Mexico City building for the present, but he replied that he had confidence in Mexico's future and that there was no reason why the United States should hesitate about buying embassy property there.

Mr. Bryan emphasized that the government should provide embassies so that poor men would not hesitate to accept the diplomatic posts.

"We should not force this government to choose its diplomats from rich men only," he said. "There are not enough men among our money makers fitted for the best diplomatic service and we should not allow rich diplomats to set a standard of expense that would encourage those who succeeded them in an effort to keep up the pace."

RAILROAD OUGHT TO ADVERTISE, DECLARES HOWARD ELLIOTT

Boston, Dec. 17.—Howard Elliott, chairman of the New Haven railroad, was questioned by the public service commission today regarding certain payments made by the railroad company in Massachusetts for publicity and advertising. Regarding advertising, Chairman Elliott said: "I think a railroad ought to advertise and do all it can to present to the public its service as well as all the economic difficulties that surround a large railway corporation. Many persons are staying awake nights to present the other side and much misinformation is in circulation. If the roads are to be saved it will be when the public has knowledge of the real facts."

When asked by Commissioner George W. Anderson how much an editorial, unsigned and purporting to be independently inspired, should cost a railroad, Mr. Elliott declared with emphasis that such "advertising" should not exist.

N. Y. SURETY CO. SEEKS TO RECOVER BIG SUM

Empire State Company Sues Clark M. Carr as Indemnitor on $44,000 Bond of A. W. Anson.

The Empire State Surety company of New York, yesterday filed suit in the district court against Clark M. Carr of Albuquerque, in an action to hold Carr responsible as indemnitor on the bond of A. W. Anson, at one time a prominent contractor here, made by the New York company in the sum of $44,000.

The petition filed today in the district clerk's office recites that Anson held a contract for the construction of the local postoffice building, and that the surety company bonded him in the sum of $44,000. Mr. Carr appearing in the bond as indemnitor.

Anson failed in business and various creditors who are made parties to the suit against the Albuquerque man, by the plaintiff, recovered, brought suit against the surety company for their several claims. The New York company now seeks to hold Carr responsible for these claims.

Broom Machinery in Litigation.
Judge Haynolds was occupied the greater part of today with the case of the Lips, Washburn company of Syracuse, N. Y., manufacturers of broom making machinery, vs. G. E. Gurley of Albuquerque, an action in replevin in which the plaintiff seeks to recover certain broom manufacturing machinery sold to Gardner brothers who operated a broom factory here for awhile.

Gardner brothers mortgaged the machinery to Gurley. The case rests upon the character of the sale of the machinery to Gardner brothers, and whether or not a mortgage was given on the machinery which had not been satisfied.

On completion of this case the court took up the case of the State National Bank, vs. W. H. Gillenwater, an action involving a contract for the sale of certain stock of the Montezuma Trust company.

SCHOOL FUNDS WILL NOT GO INTO STATE ROAD BONDS

Supreme Court Upholds Treasurer Marron and Refuses to Issue Mandamus Asked by Governor McDonald.

COURT HOLDS LOAN BOARD HAS ONLY A VETO POWER

The state supreme court in a decision made public in Santa Fe today in the case of the State Loan Commission vs. State Treasurer O. N. Marron, sustains the position of the treasurer and denies the petition of the commission or two of its members, asking a writ of mandamus to compel the treasurer to invest the state school funds in the $500,000 issue of state highway bonds recently voted by the people of New Mexico and for which a market has not been found up to this time.

The case is of general interest, not only in connection with the placing of the road bonds and the investment of the school funds, but in the defining of the powers of the State Loan Commission. This commission is composed of the governor, the attorney general and the state treasurer. The governor proposed that the state school funds held for permanent investment, and derived from sales of state school lands, be invested in the $500,000 state highway bond issue. The state treasurer refused to make such investment on the ground that a better interest rate, and better investment could be had for such funds than the highway bonds offered. The majority of the commission, the governor and attorney general, then sought to mandamus the treasurer to make the investment.

While the opinion of the court has not reached Albuquerque, it is stated that it holds in effect that the loan commission is vested with only veto power and has no power to initiate or direct the state treasurer as to the investment of state funds, being vested only with power to prevent what the majority of the commission may regard as an unwise or unsafe investment.

It is also stated that the court is not unanimous as regards the powers of the commission, the chief justice being understood to hold that the power of the treasurer as the responsible party is absolute in the placing of state funds, and that the commission has only force in an advisory capacity.

Francis B. Wood of Albuquerque argued the case in behalf of the state treasurer, and Attorney General Clancy appeared for the commission.

ESCAPED CONVICT IS CAUGHT AT ISLETA

Watchman and Santa Fe Trainmaster Run Down Margarito Candelario Under Ten Year Sentence for Murder.

BELIEVED THAT RUIZ IS ALSO IN NEIGHBORHOOD

Margarito Candelario, under sentence of ten years in the penitentiary for murder committed in this county, who escaped from the state prison last Wednesday with Ildefonso Ruiz, under life sentence for the same crime, was captured early this morning, a short distance west of Isleta by Station Watchman W. M. Pickett and Trainmaster Will Thomas of the Santa Fe Rio Grande division, according to telephone messages received by local officers today.

Details of the capture of Candelario are lacking, but the men who have him in charge state that they are certain of his identity and that they have advised the penitentiary officials to send a guard for him. The prisoner will be brought to Albuquerque tonight at 6 o'clock and a guard is expected from Santa Fe tonight to take charge of him.

The captors state that they believe his companion Ruiz is also in the neighborhood of Isleta.

There is a reward of $100 each for the men. They effected their escape while guards at the prison were busy with a freight train switching in the yard. The men went over the wall, mounted double on a government horse and made their get-away. Five others who went over the wall with them were captured.
